This Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Aruba Luxury Resort Invites Worldwide Nominations for a Gift of Rest

Bucuti & Tara Beach Resort offers four peaceful nights on Aruba's Eagle Beach, including flights, to one person facing breast cancer

EAGLE BEACH, ARUBA — October 2026 — For someone facing breast cancer, a few days away from appointments, responsibilities and the demands of everyday life can be a precious gift.

This Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Bucuti & Tara Beach Resort in Aruba is inviting people around the world to nominate someone they love — or themselves — for The Gift of Rest, a complimentary four-night stay at the intimate, adults-only luxury resort, with round-trip flights to Aruba included.

Nominations are open worldwide through October 31, 2026.

Created in collaboration with Fundacion ABO and its Make Aruba Pink campaign, The Gift of Rest offers one person facing breast cancer an opportunity to step away from daily pressures and enjoy a few peaceful days surrounded by the natural beauty of the Caribbean.

There are no scheduled obligations or expectations. The recipient will be welcomed with thoughtful hospitality and the freedom to enjoy their stay in whatever way feels most comfortable, whether resting beside the sea, enjoying a quiet morning or participating in gentle wellness experiences.

"With The Gift of Rest, we hope to offer a little comfort during a time that asks so much of a person, physically and emotionally," says Crescenzia Biemans of Bucuti & Tara. "A few peaceful days beside the sea, with no expectations and the freedom to rest in whatever way feels right for them."

More than a pink ribbon

For Bucuti & Tara, the initiative is part of a wider commitment to turning awareness into meaningful care.

Throughout October, the independently owned resort is supporting Fundacion ABO's breast cancer awareness efforts through employee health education, assistance with screening appointments and community activities.

On October 25, the resort and Fundacion ABO will also host a gathering for people affected by breast cancer at the Bucuti & Tara–GMC Nature Preserve, offering opportunities for reflection, connection with nature and companionship.

The Gift of Rest extends that spirit of care beyond Aruba's shores, inviting people from across the world to participate.

How to nominate someone

Anyone facing breast cancer may share their own story or be nominated by someone else with their permission. No previous connection with Bucuti & Tara is required.

Nominations should be emailed to pr@bucuti.com by October 31, 2026, including a brief explanation of what this opportunity would mean to the person nominated, along with contact details.

Submissions will be reviewed privately and compassionately, and one recipient will be selected.
